THE SOUTH ASIAN REGION – Paper – II

Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Nepal, Pakistan, Sri Lanka and Maldives

The paper aims at making the students conversant with a comparative profile of the countries in the South Asian Region from a comprehensive perspective covering prominent aspects like geography, society and culture, economy and problems of economic development, government and political process and the interaction with external powers. This should enable a student to analyze particular phenomena or developments occurring in a country from comparative perspective rather than consider it an isolated occurrence. Therefore, he can have better appreciation of his study of country-specific institutions and their dynamics as part of optional paper which he will offer simultaneously.

- I. The Concept and the Approaches: Regional – Area Studies, Culture Approach and Inter Disciplinary Perspective
- II. South Asia as a Region
- III. Geo-political Significance of the Region and Contributing Factors
- IV. Politico – National Movements: Emergence, Growth and Major Phases. Nationalism.
- V. Social Dynamics and Issues: Caste, Religion, Language, Ethnicity, Migrations, Refugee and Social Movements
- VI. Patterns of Economic Development : Growth Strategies, Impact of Globalization
- VII. Government and Politics : Constitutionalism, Patterns of Political Development, Movement for Democracy, Political Parties, Pressure Groups, Elections and Problems of Nation-Building. Foreign Policy Issues : South Asia in World Politics, Indian in South Asia and Regional Cooperation in South Asia.
